

NORFOLK ISLAND FOOD SECURITY WORKSHOP

12-19 NOVEMBER 2022

EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST – CALLING LOCAL FARMERS AND GROWERS

Norfolk Island Regional Council has been working with the local community to develop a Food Security Strategy for Norfolk Island. In combination with presenting the draft strategy in mid-November, plans are currently underway to host a series of workshops spanning a number of days, that will bring together experienced growers and experts in regenerative agriculture, soil health, pest management, agribusiness and other farming principles.

We recognise that substantial agricultural experience and skills lie within the Norfolk Island community and that many community members would like the opportunity to share their knowledge with existing and up-and-coming growers.

Whether you grow commercially, have small-scale success with particular varieties, wish to talk about livestock management or have traditional growing methods you would like to showcase, we are seeking your interest in being a part of these workshops.

If you would like to be involved, please contact Phil Reid, Manager Planning and Environment – philip.reid@nirc.gov.nf. We look forward to hearing from you.
